Hello, Everybody!

For the past several months, I had been seriously considering accepting the position as Assistant to Baruch M. Wood, Editor of CHESS magazine, at Sutton Coldfield, England. I am sure that some of you are subscribers, and that many more of you have at least seen a copy of his magazine, which has a worldwide circulation of 7,000.

The point is, I have finally decided NOT to take the job, but will instead follow through on original plans to settle in the Northwest.

I expect to become exceptionally active in chess promotion work. Many of my ideas have already been publicized in NORTHWEST CHESS, and in its predecessor publications, NORTHWEST CHESS LETTER and the WASHINGTON CHESS LETTER. In the November 1948 issue, for example, I put forward the idea of inter-high school competition. Times have changed for chess!

My first concrete project will be the founding of the West Coast Summer Chess Academy this year. Please support it! The long-range potential of such an institution, once established, is fantastic! If you know a promising young chessplayer, encourage him or her to attend the Basic Course. An Adult Club could even offset part of the tuition as a prize in a Junior tournament. If you yourself can spare the time and would like to see a distinct improvement in your tournament and league performances, I would recommend the Intermediate Course. I believe that the Academy will grow and it will add other courses, but a lot will depend on our experience during this first summer.

In time, I will visit all your clubs, and meet you, and find out what other new projects you would like to have initiated in our amazing world of chess!

Yours, for a chessically successful 1972!

Robert A. Karch

THE WEST COAST SUMMER CHESS ACADEMY

is accepting applications from qualified instructors to teach various aspects of these two-week courses:

Basic Chess (Beginner to Class B)

Intermediate Chess (Class B to Expert)

Altho precise arrangements are not fully confirmed, the Academy plans to conduct its first two courses during the period 14-25 August in TACOMA, WASHINGTON.

Applications should include age, teaching experience, chess ratings, any other qualifications, and acceptable minimal salary.

The Brilliancy Prize

Games continue to pour in, a pleasingly large percentage from Washington Chessplayers, from whom little has been heard recently. I am 'holding back' some of the games received recently, in order to have something to print when the inevitable drought season commences. The espionage agents are still out, looking for your brilliancies!

Our first game this month was played postally by Harold Moyer against our Postal Chess Director. Rumour has it that Harold's postal rating will drop 600 points in next month's issue! Seriously, though, I am sure that you will all find this game a monument to ingenuity, even if it is not quite perfect.

IV Irregular Benoni

White: Harold Moyer
Black: Ron Norman

- 1 P-Q4 N-KB3
- 2 P-QB4 P-B4
- 3 P-K3 P-K3 White avoids the Benko Gambit!
- 4 N-KB3 P-QN3
- 5 N-QB3 B-N2 After this, P-Q5! is possible
- 6 Q-B2 B-B3
- 7 B-Q2 B-Q3 What's this? Black's 'good' Bishop becomes an object of attack, and blocks the QP as well. Instead of this anomalous move, simply ... B-K2, intending ... P-Q4 at the correct moment, equalizes easily.
- 8 P-CB3 Q-O
- 9 B-Q3 Q-B2 Why black should give away his bishop and a tempo to boot, is not quite clear.
- 10 N-QN5 Q-N1
- 11 NxB QxN
- 12 P-KR4! White plays aggressively, sacrificing a pawn to open lines. B-B3 is also possible.
- 13 ... PXP
- 13 Q-O-O! PXP ... QR-QB1 or even ... P-K4! may be better here. The text move allows white to build up a dangerous spatial advantage.
- 14 BxP Q-B2 ... Q-K2 is closer 'to where the action is' (is going to be!)
- 15 N-KN5 P-KN3 After ... P-KR3, it seems a little more difficult for white to attack. Of course, the knight could never be taken, but black could play ... N-K4 and ... P-Q4 while white tries to build an attack.
- 16 P-R5 N-K4
- 17 PXP NxBch
- 18 QxN BXP? White may have a winning attack after RXP, but black is clearly lost after this recapture. For example ... RXP 19 Q-Q4 P-K4 20 Q-KB4 N-R4 21 P-KN4? QxPch 22 K-N1 BxR 23 RxB P-B3, and black is quite certainly alive.
- 19 NxBP! K-B2 If ... N-N? 20 QxPch mates
- 20 NxB Instead of this, NxB KxN 21 R-R7 seems more to the point. However, black is quite lost in any case. White finishes imaginatively.
- 20 ... BxN
- 21 B-R7ch! K-K1 Or ... NxB 22 QxPch QxQ 23 RxBch K-N1 24 RxB leaves white with an easy win
- 22 B-R8! B-K5 After ... RxB 23 QxPch K-K2 24 Q-N7ch white wins the rook with check and then the knight
- 23 BxBch Resigns Apparently, black did not wish to waste postage on something like ... KxR 24 Q-B3 P-K4 25 P-B3 B-N2 26 B-N5 etc, with more exchanges in the offing. An interesting battle!

The Seattle Center Food Circus Building was the site of the 1972 Washington Open. Known in the past to be an acute area of noise pollution, the building was silent except for the tournament itself. From outside of the Food Circus a series of soccer games could be heard on Saturday. The sound of people cheering and horns blowing as goals were scored seemed to be more entertaining than disruptive.

Robert Zuk and Viktors Pupols again tied for first place, as they did in 1971. Canadian Zuk, having played stronger opposition, was first on tie-break. Perhaps Bob's best game came in the final, climactic sixth round. His attack oozed forward like water through sand, much to the dismay of Jim McCormick.

Due to previous commitments, Vik had to take a third round draw. He won his other five games in convincing fashion. Pupols' finest effort also occurred in the last round. The venerable veteran of Washington chess gave the indomitable youth from Vancouver, Peter Biyassas, a lesson in the art of checkmate.

Dennis Waterman, Mike Franett, and Alan Hill each lost a single game to post fine 5-1 records. Hill opted for the first expert prize while Waterman and Franett shared third place money.

Tied for second expert were Borek Groschl and Joe Eggertsen. The tournament was the last event to be considered before the closed championship. Borek's result adds credence to his provisional rating of 2175 and his right to play in the state championship.

Class Prize Winners:

1st class A, Paul Eggers; 2nd class A, Digne deLenea and F. Fogarassy and William Lowrie.

1st class B, Ron Erickson and Robert Holland and Robert E. Anderson.

1st class C, Martin Van Parys; 2nd class C, Robert McCurdy and Roger Thorinason and D. Delp.

The Washington Open was sponsored by the Washington Chess Federation, directed by Tim Kaupila.

OREGON CHESS NEWS

By Bob Larrance

Starting with this month, I've taken over the duties of Oregon Chess News editor. Pat Maloney, who had held the post for over a year, resigned in early January because of many conflicting commitments. Pat picked me as his replacement, and for a few months I'll be on trial, with OCF president Lewis Richardson to make the final decision as to who will succeed Pat.

I hope that I'll be able to do as good a job at Pat did. It is my hope to involve as many people as can be accommodated in the writing of Oregon Chess News. Only with your help can we truly make this portion of NWO an Oregon effort.

My Address is 339 NE Fifth street, Hillsboro, Oregon. If you have any news, or if you just have something to say, please drop me a letter and we'll print it up. RULES FOR OREGON CHAMPIONSHIP

Bob Mitchell sends news from Klamath Falls of the new rules regarding the Oregon Championship.

- 1) The Championship Tournament to be held in July and/or August of each year.
- 2) The tournament to be an eight player invitational, 7 round-robin type of tournament, and held on two consecutive weekends.
- 3) The time control to be forty moves in two hours, and the secondary control twenty moves in one hour unless by a two-thirds vote of the participants some other time control is desired.
- 4) A Tournament Director shall be appointed by the OCF and he shall conduct such tournament in accordance with regularly accepted current practice using a tiebreaking system that will produce a state champion and a runner-up.
- 5) Of the eight participants two are to be seeded from the previous tournament, i.e., the winner and runner-up.
- 6) The remaining six are to be selected in order of playing strength as determined by the latest Northwest rating published on or before June 30th preceding the Championship Tournament. Each participant must qualify for selection by:
 - a) Being an Oregon resident for the entire fiscal year,
 - b) Having played at least fifteen tournament games in at least three Oregon Open Tournaments during the fiscal year (a forfeit win shall count as a game played, but not a forfeit loss.)
- 7) In addition to the eight primary qualifiers a secondary list of alternates shall be prepared in the same manner.
- 8) These rules are to be used as guidelines, and any rule may be modified, or abrogated at any time by the authority of OCF, or its delegated agents, without necessarily changing another rule, when in the opinion of the OCF such change is in the best interest of chess promotion.
- 9) Interpretation of these rules lies solely with the OCF or its delegated agents. For example, controversy could arise as to the definition of "an Oregon resident" as relates to a college student from another state.

Lone Pine, California See Chess Life & Review

According to LA Times the following players are signed up to play at Lone Pine and probably Sparks too. Walter Browne, Svetozar Gligoric, Arthur Bisguier and Larry Evans, Grandmasters all. Probably these next listed will play also Robert Byrne, Lubomir Kavalek, Pal Benko and International Master Anthony Saidy. From Northwest, Robert Zuk and Dennis Waterman hope to take part. James McCormick played last year.

Hillsboro Open 1972

Jan. 8, 1972

Year after year the Hillsboro Open draws more players than any other tournament of its type in Oregon. This year 43 players came and enjoyed themselves at Hillsboro city Hall. Only one problem arose throughout the tournament that was of any significance. At the beginning of round three it was discovered by the ever alert Will Crowe that a mistake had been made in the pairings. To be fair to all concerned, we paired the whole batch over again and managed to keep from any great loss of time.

This year we offered seven trophies. Capturing first, second, and third, in tie-break order, were Fred Byron of Milwaukee Oregon, Pat Maloney of Portland Oregon, and another Milwaukee resident, Newell Wagner in third. (all 4-0)

Winning class prizes were Will Crowe (3-1) first B, Jeff Running, (3-1) first C, Steve Wojahn, (2-2) first D, and Chris Tento, (3-1), fought his way to first Unrated.

OREGON JUNIOR CHESS BY CHRIS BOWEN

Well it seems that finally in this great northwestern section of the country chess interest is picking up. This is particularly true from the standpoint of the junior. They are finally getting a chance to come out and join the rest of the country in a somewhat "integrated" system of chess.

Northwest tournaments have tremendously improved in the last year and one half, due mainly to the efforts of Hannon W. Russell, and Rusty Miller.

Of course, Mr. Russell's tournaments were the initial booster which was topped off by the U.S. Junior Open held in Portland. This was the first tournament ever, excluding only the Strawberry Open tournament which bombed, in recent years to bring some outside chess style to the northwest.

Another factor in the growth of the 'Chessical community' is the increased number of tournaments. Mr. Miller has started what I feel is an outstanding program, with his county tournaments, and the Hillsboro people are also doing a fine job. (this can best be illustrated by the recent Hillsboro Open which attracted 43 players to a one day, trophy only event!)

As only a mediocre player, I may not be qualified to judge the strength of the Northwest Juniors in comparison with that of the rest of the U.S. But I do feel that, although the N.W. may not as yet have a proportionate amount of strong juniors, it is certainly catching up.

From this standpoint, I feel it will be merely a matter of a few more years before the N.W. be truly representative in strength with that of the rest of the country.

Robert Zuk won 1972 Portland Winter Open. He won $100.00 for his efforts. The 62 players was largest event for Portland since 64 player 1971 Rose City. Byron Perala won $50.00. 4-1 scores each received $18.00. Paul Eggers won $30.00 Class "C" prize. Pedro Garcia-Pelayo, Steve Chase & Gary Gelow split Class "D" & Unrated $10.00 prize. Kurt Granat was best under age 14 good for $8.00 while Bill Crowe won upset prize by beating Bill Kiplinger. East-West Tournament Assoc. and Oregon Chess Federation co-sponsored the event. Russell Miller directed with assistance from Terry Helling. Both the Zuk-Waterman and Perala-Harmon games in 5th round were lost on time forfeit. The first column of ratings in the crosstable are USCF ratings used for pairings. The second column are USCF ratings of the players from January 1971. Even more current USCF ratings for Zuk is 2243 and Waterman 2267 for events held up to Oct 71.

'B' Section

1	Charles Freeman	Unr.	X 1 1 1	3
2	Robert Strohm	Unr.	0 X 0 1	1
3	Jerry Grubb	Unr.	0 1 X 0	1
4	Terry Elmore	Unr.	0 0 1 X	1

Due to the lack of an announcement in the Tournament Bulletin, this event only drew eight players, but the TD hopes for more at the Everett Woodpusher. In the 'A' section, the battle between Chase and Delp was the obvious key, and this was played in the first round. Both players sacrificed a knight for two pawns, and then Dave blundered thinking he might have won the exchange, but instead he lost a piece to check. After Chase's win to Bursell, a quick draw with Raplee was agreed to.

Charles Freeman, though two pawns down to Elmore in the last round, went to make it three straight, and his competition was perhaps stronger than what occurred in the 'A' section. Strohm, Grubb and Elmore all carried home eighty-five cents, which is a pitiful amount, but costs must be met. I hope to see all these players back for the other events in the series, and now that you know of the tournaments, try and make it yourself.

EXPERIMENTAL CHESS TOURNAMENT

Well, back to the drawing board. The only result the system had was to award prize money on a tie-break basis, thus affecting only one person - as it happens, the originator of the system! The other part of the experiment was the first B.C. implementation of the scaled entry fee system, which caused some concern when certain players found that according to the Annual Rating List they were obliged to part with more money in order to enter. Another aspect of the scaled fees was that 1499 + under NW rated players as well as unrated players paid no entry fee.

Worth recounting, for those fortunate to have missed it, was the infamous dispute in the second round between a recipient of a free membership (from the Province problem solving contest) and his experienced opponent. Obviously playing in his first tournament, Mr. Recipient had no idea whatever that one is not supposed to shout, cry, wail, stomp, bemoan, caterwaul, gnash teeth, or otherwise cause disturbances when things don't go right. Not keeping score of the game, Mr. Recipient nearly came to blows over who had Queened a pawn first. It turned out that his opponent had. In the next round he bemoaned the fact that being over so many years old, playing in his first tournament, playing 3 games a day, he had to play an Expert (actually rated a class A) and upon reaching move 40 (rapidly, and in a lamentably busted position) was not allowed to force an adjournment upon his opponent. He did not consider a) that he had 1/2 points more than his opponent and was getting an advantage, b) everybody must play according to the same rules, c) the tournament director's ruling is meant to be obeyed, d) listening to anyone, or stopping his vociferous expostulations. At this writing, a letter from M. Eume, which was threatened by Mr. Recipient, has not arrived. After about 90 minutes however, the tempest subsided.

As far as the battle for 1st place is concerned, Alan Hill surprised everyone by departing from the leaders in round 2 when he lost to Dave Hladek. From then on, it was a dog race, with Bruce Harper declining to mate David Powell in the last round, preferring to offer a draw instead. Powell, after refusing the first offer accepted the second - for psychological reasons, one would assume. Anyway, Powell came home first. Remembering B. Harper's penchant for overlooking forced mates (eg. vs. Suttles, printed in NW last year) his "fan club" is now calling him: "Mate in Three, ...uh, Draw?" Harper. This tournament marks the demise of the YMCA as a site for BCCF tournaments, as the BCCF had to foot the bill for the rent. Had it been taken out of the entry fees, there would have been virtually no prize fund. How about that for an experiment?

Vancouver—J. Oszwald wins Speed Tournament

Although this tournament was not the regular monthly tournament, which is held on the first Friday of each month, 16 people were found to be on hand at a moment's notice to compete. 25¢ entry was charged, with all money being given back in the form of prizes.

Because of the shortage of clocks, the tournament was divided into two sections of eight players each, which were then played out one after another. It is hoped for the Friday tournaments more players will bring their own clocks.

B.C. TOURNAMENT NOTES

QUALIFYING TOURNAMENTS FOR THE 1972 B.C. CHAMPIONSHIP:

Vancouver City Championship (CFC/BCCF) March 4-9
Simon Fraser University

B.C. OPEN (CFC/BCCF) March 25-26,

KELOWNA OPEN, March 18-19, Kelowna

N.Vancouver Island Open, May 6-7, Nanaimo.

Already qualified are: Jon Berry, Peter Ryzas, Dr. Elod Macaskasy, Robert Zuk. The Reserve Championship will consist of those eight players directly in line for the Championship section. Both will be 8 man rd. robins, played at S.F.U. May 19-22.

To qualify, candidates must play in at least two Qualifying tournaments.

Please bring a clock to tournaments you play in...if you have one. If it is borrowed by another player or if the tournament requisitions it for another board, remember to keep an eye on it. Equipment lost at B.C.C.F. tournaments cannot be is not reimbursed.

If you would like to play in a tournament, but have transportation problems. Contact your local chess club to see about getting a ride. Since a lot of Vancouver area players do not have cars, those that do should be willing to share their good fortune.

This represents only about half of the material submitted to me this month, but a combination of illness and busyness has prevented me from getting more done. In fact there must be close to four times as much rating business coming in these days as there was when I took over this job two years ago. Of course, that kind of growth shows how healthy chess is in the Northwest. A good portion of it can be attributed to the efforts of our president, Rusty Miller. On the other hand, the amount of time involved in the rating job has gotten to be more than I can give. Fortunately there is a happy solution. Bruce Bailey has agreed to take over the job and he has a computer program to do it!! This will mean faster, more accurate service.

I'm sure many of you have legitimate gripes about the rating process over the past two years. To all of you, my apologies for the typos, arithmetic errors, name mix-ups, etc., etc. To any of you from whom I mistakenly took your hard earned rating points, I'm truly sorry, not only for you, but for your subsequent opponents who were most certainly forced to give them back to you. Conversely to anyone to whom I supplied points you didn't earn. Now that Mr. Computer is taking over, it won't happen again.

Above is the cross table of the Friday night speed tournament held at the Vancouver YMCA Chess Club. Better players received less time when playing opponents of a smaller rating.

The tournament was exciting from the outset: Suttles defeated Harper in Round 2, and this left Harper with the job of catching him. Chow proved the necessary man for the task and defeated Suttles two or three games later. Neither Harper nor Suttles lost another game, mainly because neither could afford to, as the other would have the lead. A number of close calls occurred, however. Especially as time wore on.

2 points back came the rest of the field, led by Fullbrook, then Chow. Suttles and Harper received $2.80 each, Fullbrook $1.60, and Chow $.80. Entry fee was the usual 50¢. J. Berry directed in an excellent fashion. Had he not arrived 3 minutes late, he would have been seen above. To ensure that you don't end up directing instead of playing, be at the Vancouver YMCA on Burrard at 7:30. Because of the response to these tournaments, they will be held every Friday.
